Gardening in Gethsemane:
being with nature on the way to resurrection

A Storm of Hope retreat weekend

15-17 October 2010

Ringsfield Hall, near Beccles, Suffolk NR3 8JR

We flourish as creation flourishes; before the march of monoculture we too are diminished. In 2010, the International Year of Biodiversity, the UN invites us to celebrate our dependence on creation. This weekend we will gather on behalf of this fragile web of life. Midway between two Easters, we will walk the way of the cross with Jesus, its origin and goal, and so join in renewing the face of the Earth.

During this retreat weekend we will share a Passover Supper, follow the Easter story through the Passion to the exultation of Resurrection, experience time apart in the peaceful grounds of Ringsfield Hall, reflect on the state of the natural world, and find hope and inspiration for action to renew the face of the earth.

Cost: £110 or £100 early bird if paid by the end of July

Ringsfield EcoCentre

Ringsfield Hall is a comfortably welcoming Victorian House, attractively presented in 14.5 acres of varied grounds.

The Ringsfield Hall Trust emphasises its work with children and accordingly there are some dormitory rooms with bunk beds. But don't worry! There are plenty of twin bedded rooms as well, and also for this retreat we will once again have the use of an eight twin- bedded room retreat house just up the road. The accommodation at Quiet Waters adds to our rooms to make enough very comfortable bedrooms for everyone.

After the weekend...

There is the opportunity to stay on after the retreat for a night or two, or as many as you want until the following Wednesday morning (February 18). This will be done on a shared self-catering basis. We will be able to live together 'in community' enjoying each other, God's creation the surrounding area. Just indicate how long you would like to stay on, or make your mind up when you get here.
